

Inside Amy Schumer, "Mom Computer Therapy"

Introduction

1. Are you good with computers? What problems do you have?
2. Have you ever helped someone with a computer problem?
3. What would you do if you needed help with your computer?
4. Do you know any older people who are computer literate?

Video

Take the video quotes, read them and try to predict what order they will appear in. Watch the video for the first time and put the quotes in the correct order.

Vocabulary

Look at the vocabulary related to computers. Match the words to their definitions then watch again to find the three words which do not appear in the video.

Desktop	@
Screen	A cable
To hold something down	A programme used to access the internet
"the on button"	Short for America Online
To click	Something you can use to organise your files
AOL	The button you press to start your computer
Folder	The computer's primary display screen.
The "at" symbol	The part of the computer with keys representing numbers and letters etc.
To work	The visual display of a computer/TV.
To drag	To function
To turn something on	To move something across the screen
To forward an email	To press a button and not release it
Browser	To select something using a button
Cord	To send a received email to a different person
Keyboard	To start a machine/electrical appliance functioning

Video Quotes Cut-Out

"Desktop meaning the whole screen?"
"Hold it down and drag it."
"How can you accept her request in a spirit of generosity and maturity?"
"I didn't grow up with these things"
"I don't have all day to stare at computer screens."
"I just think that machines don't work around me."
"I know for a fact that she does know how to turn on her computer."
"I said that five years ago and you've bought me several sets of them."
"I wanted to show the hangers that I've just ordered from HSN."
"If I knew that, I wouldn't be asking for help."
"In order to move forward with your life, you need to confront this issue."
"Let's just attach the photo."
"Mom, what's the issue you've been having with your computer?"
"Oh, I just wanted to email that cute picture of you and your sister to your uncle Pat."
"OK, I figured it out!"
"OK, now open your browser."
"Well, I didn't bring a cord."
"Where's your photo folder?"
"Will you just drag it to your desktop?"
"You mean my AOL?"